Enhance All Your Construction Decisions In the Field or in the Office

Like any construction business, your company must keep close track of its finances. But every decision you make in the field is closely tied to accounting—and every accounting decision needs heavy input from the field. Whether your employees are in the office or on a job site, they need speedy access to all the information that's relevant to the decision at hand.

The power of Acumatica Construction Edition with Procore gives you the ability to seamlessly share your accounting and project data between your office and field. This includes easily exporting and synchronizing records between Acumatica and Procore for your customers, vendors, projects, cost codes, and more.

Through this synchronization process, you can seamlessly update Procore fields with changes to those corresponding fields in Acumatica. The synch feature works across all the records exported from Acumatica to Procore or linked between the two systems.

BENEFITS INCLUDE:

Real-time projects views

Increase field and office collaboration

Time-savings

Streamline approval processes for tasks such as subcontracts and purchase orders

Eliminate costly errors

Reduce double entry letting your project teams make more accurate, informed decisions
